

bundyi girri
consulting

Bundy Girri Consulting acknowledges the sovereignty of the Boon Wurrung and Woi Wurrung language groups of the Eastern Kulin Nations on whose unceded lands we conduct our business. We acknowledge their Ancestors and Elders past and present.

We further acknowledge the continuing sovereignty of all Country and First Peoples of the unceded territories, waters and other life ways across Australia and pay our respects to their Ancestors and Elders, past and present.

Bundy Girri is Wiradjuri language.
It describes practices of meeting
and discussing, and asks:
what can be shared?

Together, we meet, yarn, and collaborate. We get to know you and your organisational culture, and tailor our programs for your unique organisational context and goals. We embed Reconciliation into business metrics and operational processes.

We work with you to help you imagine how your brand can signal Reconciliation as a significant ‘future of work’ value.

Through both face-to-face training and e-learning, we develop your organisational capacity for Reconciliation. Reconciliation requires specific skills and shifts in thinking to be undertaken by all staff, Indigenous and non-Indigenous.

All of this moves Reconciliation from being a ‘nice to have’ to being ‘business as usual.’ This is an invitation from Bundy Girri to imagine and plan our shared futures.

A proudly Indigenous-led
and owned business,
Bundyi Girri is an invitation for non-Indigenous people to develop the skills to actively engage in
Reconciliation.

Dr Faye McMillan AM

Citizen of the Wiradjuri Nation
Chair of Bundyi Girri Consulting;
Lead Facilitator

Alex Splitt

Citizen of the Kabi Kabi Nation
Managing Director;
Lead Facilitator

Dr Mark McMillan

Citizen of the Wiradjuri Nation
Partner – Sovereign Relationships;
Lead Facilitator

Dr Peter West

Partner – Education and Learning Design;
Lead Facilitator

Damien Connell

Partner – Business and Systems Development;
Facilitator

Plan for the future of work

Improved whole-of-business strategic approach to Reconciliation

Retention and acquisition of talent attracted to organisational values

Increased retention of Indigenous staff, and enhanced workplace culture for all staff

Matured brand narrative and market positioning

Build a solid foundation

Bundyi Girri is more than just cultural awareness training; rather, it builds upon cultural awareness to provide you and your staff with the fundamental skills to mature an active, authentic relationship with Indigenous peoples, knowledge, and country.

Although cultural awareness training is an important first step, we guide you to further develop this awareness into enduring practices of respectful engagement.

Who is Bundyi Girri for?

We work with organisations from a variety of sectors and all at different starting points on their Reconciliation journey. Whether your organisation is a local government on its second or third Reconciliation Action Plan, or an industry body at the very beginning of its Reconciliation journey, Bundyi Girri can support you to achieve your Reconciliation goals.

Bundyi Girri invites you to...

Co-design your Reconciliation journey

Bundyi Girri is an invitation to co-design your Reconciliation journey. We treat co-designing as an opportunity to collaborate and guide you into an understanding of Indigenous sovereignty as an innovative approach to place, country and story-telling. We design our workshops and all our interactions as discursive, ideas spaces. This is an opportunity for us to yarn, respond to the specifics of your organisation and together co-create world-leading approaches to Reconciliation.

Actively learn online

Our programs are supported by a wide variety of online micro-credentials. Some of these are focused on specific foundational knowledges, such as understanding terms and ideas you've often wondered about or they might address topical issues and ideas pertinent to your brand.

Many organisations favour learning online learning for its flexibility and quiet 'think time'. Our micro-credentials speak directly to you and your everyday work activities, which ultimately expands the possibilities for how you authentically demonstrate your relationship to First Peoples.

Signal the future of work through your brand

A new wave of values-led talent is emerging. Successful brands must attract and retain leading talent through actively demonstrating their values, such as a meaningful commitment to Reconciliation.

Alternatively, organisations risk costly brand damage by failing to keep up with public and 'leading talent' expectations regarding authentic relationships with First Peoples. Bundyi Girri offers your organisation the opportunity to become a Reconciliation leader in your sector.

Build lasting and meaningful change

Move beyond short term targets and plans, and ensure all staff are championing change through their personal Reconciliation journeys. Drive deep cultural change to build a safe space where employees can explore Reconciliation together. Embed a sense of belonging and cultural safety to forge strong bonds between people and teams.

Bundyi Girri is a good temperature check along the way, testing the authenticity and effectiveness of your initiatives. We help you to push for greater outcomes and impact within your organisation, with your stakeholders and within your community.

Thank you for demonstrating your commitment to Reconciliation.

For all inquiries, please contact Fiona.

Fiona Simpson

Business Development
Manager

M 0438 352 725

E fiona.simpson@bundyigirri.com.au

bundy girri consulting

ABN 38 645 851 412

Wurundjeri Country,
552 Victoria St
North Melbourne, VIC 3051

www.bundygirri.com.au

hello@bundygirri.com.au

